The Nightcap is the only late night sketch comedy show operating in San Luis Obispo. The club meets to produce its shows which are put on once or twice each quarter on average on the campus at California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo. Boasting relatively modest show sizes, the group's student-written and produced content mainly reaches fellow students and members of the local community. The show has a reputation for its off-the-wall style of comedy, often pursuing wildly creative ideas from the minds of its members, who number more than twenty-five. A variety of specific content relating to the city of San Luis Obispo recurs within The Nightcap shows, but this is not a limitation to the creative scope of the group. The Nightcap sees to expand into ideas for comedy that all can enjoy.
